DEMOCRATS SPLIT ON GERMAN TREATY BEFORE SENATE

Sentiment in Party Generally Is Opposed to Proposed Pact of Republicans

MAY VOTE FAVORABLY

Senator Borah Attacks Treaty in Asking for Information From State Department

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A sharp division of opinion on the German peace treaty among Democratic senators was disclosed today at a party conference which broke up without definite action on what attitude to take toward ratification. Democratic Leader Underwood announced another meeting would be called for Thursday to discuss the pact.

Sentiment generally among the Democrats is opposed to the treaty. Some of them, however, while criticizing the pact, are inclined to vote for it as "the best of a bad bargain."

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, who is leading the Democratic fight against the treaty, declared he found a growing support among the Democrats.

Borah, of Idaho, "irreconcilable," introduced a resolution in the senate asking the secretary of state to inform the senate whether the United States has now "any representative in any way connected with the reparations commission" in Europe.

The resolution is part of Borah's attack on the peace treaties.

MAHONEY GETS KICK OUT OF TRIAL TODAY

SEATTLE Wash., Sept. 27.—James E. Mahoney and his little niece, Margaret, got a "kick" out of the trial this morning watching Judge J. T. Ronald, clad in his black robe, slowly pacing his bench with his hands behind him. The little girl and the alleged murderer watched the judge, nudged each other, conversed in whispers and laughed.

Meanwhile defense counsel cross-examined L. S. May, state's handwriting expert, who was the first witness called. The attorney's questions failed to shake the testimony given by May earlier in the trial as to the forged documents in the case. The cross-examination became so monotonous that for the first time during the trial spectators fell asleep. Judge Ronald finally urged the defense to speed up the examination.

When court reopened this morning Prosecutor Malcolm Douglas said the state had only nine more witnesses. One of these is Captain of Detectives Charles Tennant, the who who "solved the Mahoney trunk mystery."

AGED MAN MISTAKES SIGNALS; IS KILLED

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Sept. 27.—Peter Anderson, aged 70 years, was run down and killed by a Pacific Electric car on Magnolia avenue last night. Anderson was walking along the tracks toward Riverside when Motorman Frank Pettigrew sounded the bell of the car. The aged man made no move to avoid being struck and the motorman blew his whistle.

Anderson, it is believed, thought the blast of the whistle and the headlight of the trolley car was that of an automobile and jumped to the trolley track to avoid being struck by the automobile. He has a son, Clarence A. Anderson, in this city. Mrs. Anderson is on her way home from Sweden where she spent the past year.

MOONSHINE UNION PROTECTS MEMBERS

WAUSAU, Wis., Sept. 27.—The existence of an organization known as a moonshiners' union, whose purpose is to protect its members and provide a defense fund for combatting prosecution has been found in Wisconsin, according to Federal agents.

The aims of the union, as set forth to several farmers, include a membership of 200, with an initiation fee of $5 per moonshiner.

KANE WILL BE TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 27.—Requisition for return of Roy Kane, alias Roy Baldwin, wanted in San Francisco for manslaughter, was honored late Monday by Governor Hart of Washington.

Kane is charged with driving an automobile at high speed through a closed street, running down several workmen and killing Michael Hull. Following arrest and placement under bonds, he fled the state and was found at Aberdeen.

DENY WILSON FIGHTS NEW GERMAN TREATY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Reports that former President Wilson is backing the fight in the senate against the German-American peace treaty were denied today by Senator Pat Harrison, leader of the democratic fight against the pact.

Senator Carter Glass, also one of the Democrats opposing the treaty, denied the report. Joseph Tumulty, formerly secretary to Wilson, declared the former president is taking no part whatever in the treaty fight.

GLENDALE ELKS TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Last night at the Glendale Elks' lodge, 13 new members were elected and the organization did not consider itself at all unlucky because of the "hoodoo" number.

Coming events were the chief subjects for discussion. October 9, a big picnic for the good of the order, and limited to members and families is to be given on the Ward ranch, two miles from Newhall, between that city and Saugus. In selecting the site the aim was to divide the distance for the Fillmore and Glendale members.

Another matter was the annual entertainment to celebrate the anniversary of the local lodge, which was installed October 14, 1912. The celebration will take place on the regular meeting night, October 17, and will be limited to members. Unusually good entertainment is promised.

YANKS BATTLE BROWNS FOR PENNANT TODAY

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Steaming pennantward, the fast moving New York Yanks find the bulky form of the St. Louis Browns in their way here this afternoon.

Despite their biggest jinx, Urban Shocker, who was to pitch against them, the New Yorkers hoped to land one of the three victories they need to cinch the pennant.

Reaction from the big series with the Cleveland Indians, which set an attendance record of 142,000 for four games, was shown in the stands, where less than 15,000 were gathered. The weather was cloudy and the field fast.

TWO NEWSPAPERS FOR 65 CENTS PER MONTH

Many prospective subscribers to the Glendale Daily Press seem to be entertaining the thought that the price of 65 cents per month applies to the Glendale Daily Press and the same price to the Los Angeles Evening Express, which goes to all subscribers of the Glendale Daily Press.

This is not so. Subscribers to the Glendale Daily Press receive both papers for the 65 cents per month, and the two newspapers for only 5 cents more than the price of the Glendale Daily Press, which, hitherto, had been 60 cents per month.

REALTOR REBELS AT 'NO CHILDREN' SIGN ON MANY HOUSES

Rent profiteers and landlords who will not rent houses to prospective tenants with children are arousing the ire of the real estate agents of Glendale as well as the victims of these people who are putting their own interests and purses ahead of the advancement of Glendale, their home town.

There is no other city in the United States that is growing as fast as Glendale and this in spite of the rent profiteer who, by placing the rent of his house or apartment at such an exhorbitant price that the average working man cannot afford to make his home here and the landlord who, by refusing to rent to people with children is making the advance in the number of residents in Glendale much slower than it should be.

In discussing these two stones in the path of the progress of Glendale, John A. Daniels, real estate agent, with offices at 141 South Brand, said:

"It is a well-known fact that there is a tremendous shortage of houses to rent in Glendale and the houses that are listed are priced too high for the average man to rent. Every day there are from six to eight, and sometimes more, inquiries for houses to rent at every real estate office in the city, and about one in six or eight is able to find a house for rent. Personally, I have not had a house listed for rent for several months. What is needed in this town is someone with sufficient capital to build small houses than can be rented for $30 to $40 a month, and a man that is willing to invest his money in such a project and be satisged with a moderate but steady income on his investment.

"Regarding the children, there are children and there are children, some landlords make the announcement that they will not rent to families with children because they have had experiences where the tenant allowed their children to destroy property valued at more than the rent received for the entire term of tenancy. The landlords will, in most cases, rent to families with children if they are given an assurance that the property will be kept in perfect condition and not be damaged by the children. Of the other type of landlord who will not allow a family in his house with children just on general principles, he is a man that I have no dealings with."

RENTS REDUCED IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Slight reductions in rentals here are being reported in a few cases, but in most instances the rates charged by landlords are at the highest point ever known.

There are, it is estimated, at this time more than 10,000 vacant houses and apartments within the limits of Greater Cleveland, but landlords generally are standing together in opposition to any lowering of rates charged.

The Cleveland New, an afternoon newspaper, has been conducting an editorial campaign against present rates which, it declares, are clearly excessive. T. A. Robertson, the managing editor, states that slight results are noticeable and that some further readjustment is probable before long.

SIMMONS ILL

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 27.—"Imperial Wizard Simmons is very ill. He cannot be disturbed or see any callers."

This statement was made today by Imperial Kligraph Ward of the Ku Klux Klan, denying reports that William J. Simmons, head of the order, was enroute to Washington. Ward's title, translated into ordinary language, is "secretary."

ROY GARDNER WAS IN RAYMOND FRIDAY SAYS POLICEMAN

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Sept. 27.—Roy Gardner, fugitive mail bandit and escaped convict, was in Raymond last Friday and left a stolen automobile, Chief of Police Shumway of Raymond, announced today.

Chief Shumway substantiates this opinion by declaring that George Wilbur, restaurant man who for some time has boasted to Raymond citizens that he railroaded with Gardner in California, has left town.

He sent his wife and children to an unknown destination. They took their belongings with them. The suspect roomed over the Willis Pool Hall and people about the rooming house and employes of the Wilbur restaurant are positive in their identification of him as Gardner from photographs of Gardner in possession of Shumway.

NIECE OF MAHONEY IDENTIFIED BODY AS ONE IN TRUNK

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 27.—Recalled to the stand this afternoon, Mrs. Carrie E. Hewett, niece of Mrs. Kate Mahoney, clinched the state's identification of the body of the murdered woman when she told the jury in even tones:

"That was my Aunt Kate."

The greatest crowd since the beginning of the trial of James Mahoney was in attendance today.

Mrs. Hewett identified several letters written to her by Mahoney after Mrs. Mahoney's death in which he said his wife was in Havana and that he would join her shortly. She identified three slippers as those of her dead aunt's. A fourth letter was identified by the witness as one she had written Mrs. Kate Mahoney at a Havana hotel, and which was returned to her unopened.

MARRIED MEN SHOW SUICIDE TENDENCY

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Suicides have inreased 34 per cent during the first seven months of 1921, as compared to the same months last year, aording to figures made public by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman. The suicide toll was 365 for the seven months, with the month of May highest with 57.

Three times as many men took their own lives as women. In age, the suicides ranged between 30 and 40 years, while married men were two to one over the bachelor. Almost one-third were axphyxiated, with shooting a close second as the "means."

Temporary insanity was the motive in most cases, with despondency, due to ill health, a close second.

COSTLY BUSINESS TO FIRE EMPLOYES

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—It costs $100 to "ire and fire" an office clerk, according to figures made public by the national employment board. It was also shown that employers lose $60 by discharging a ommon laborer, ranging from a trucker to a machine hand.

These figures were gathered in a survey which included cost of time spent in interviewing, seleting, examining, training and watching the "new employe." It also included the losses the company must bear until he learns his duties.

WITNESSES BEGIN TO ASSEMBLE IN TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

Mrs. Southard's Fate Will Hinge on Strength of Medical Evidence

WILL NOT ASK DEATH

State Does Not Expect the Maximum Penalty for Young Woman

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Sept. 27.—The jury in the Mrs. Lyda Southard murder case was "passed for cause" by both prosecution and defense shortly before noon.

The rapid examination of several prospective jurors who were evidently unprejudiced tentatively filled the box sooner than was expected.

Both sides will begin their examination of the prospective jurors in view of the peremptory challenges at the afternoon session of court.

Prospective jurors have so thoroughly discussed the case among themselves and with their neighbors, or were so well acquainted with Mrs. Southard and her father, "Billy" Trueblood, prominent rancher, that they were automatically barred from serving. When the second day of the trial opened one juror had been passed for cause and eleven others were holding their seats in the jury box tentatively.

Witnesses began to arrive from various parts of the country, including several from Missouri. The latter will testify regarding the death of Mrs. Southard's first husband, Robert Dooley, and his brother, Edward Dooley, who had been her childhood chums in Missouri. She is specifically charged with causing the death of her fourth husband, Edward Meyer, although it is alleged she poisoned her other two husbands as well as her brother-in-law and her first husband's two-year-old child.

The state will not demand the death penalty for Mrs. Southard, believing it is practicaly impossible to hang a woman on circumstantial evidence.

The main issue is expected to be settled by medical testimony. The defense plans to challenge the state's contention that Meyer died from arsenic poisoning, believing the charge cannot be proven beyond reasonable doubt and will ask acquittal on that ground.

NEW CORPORATIONS NEARLY 3000 MARK

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—California has a total of 96,503 concerns incorporated under the state laws; according to Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. Approximately 2700 of these corporations have been formed since the first of the year, showing a healthy growth in commercial lines despite the usual after-war depression.

Ex-service men will in all probability have a candidate in the race for the state treasurership at the next election. His identity is not yet known, but J. W. Woolridge of the California National bank of Sacramento and a world war veteran, is known to have been approached on the subject.

STILL RAIDERS CAUSE MOONSHINERS WORRY

FLATWOODS, W. Va., Sept. 27.—A new terror has sprung up in the West Virginia mountains to keep the moonshiners uneasy. Heretofore the only terror has been provided by the prohibition enforcement raiders, state and federal. Now it is the still raiders, who slip in when they know the prohibition officers are not in the neighborhood.

These still marauders carefully watch the moonshiners at their work and as soon as the latter lock up and leave the raiders sneak in and steal the whiskey. Sometimes they do not find whiskey, in which event they take the still and mash along with them and finish the job at their own leisure.

ANOTHER ILLINOIS OFFICIAL ARRESTED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 27.—I. Levin, discharged secretary of the Illinois civil service commission, was arrested today by Federal authorities and charged with mailing non-mailable material.

LONE ROBBER HOLDS UP AN OREGON BANK

JEFFERSON, Ore., Sept. 27.—A lone unmasked robber entered the Oregon State Bank here shortly after 10 o'clock this morning and, after holding up L. W. Hall, a bookkeeper, who was alone in the bank, locked Hall in the vault and escaped with $3,380 in currency and silver.

Hall managed to extricate himself from the vault, which had not been locked securely, and sounded an alarm. Posses are out in pursuit of the robber.

STOCKTON STUDENTS RESIGN FROM "FRATS"

STOCKTON, Sept. 27.—Apparently there was little protest on the part of several hundred high school students at the order which went into effect today, when they were required to turn in cards signed by themselves and the parents resiguing from, and pledging themselves not to join any fraternities.

LABOR AND CAPITAL TO CO-OPERATE IN EMPLOYMENT

Charles M. Schwab Says He Will Abide by Will of Conference

DETROIT MAYOR HELPS

Labor Gives Best Talent to Investigate Conditions Over the Country

WASHINGTON, Sept 27.—In interviews today, representatives of capital, labor and the public pledged their cooperation in the effort to provide work for the millions of unemployed.

Charles M. Schwab, the steel king, representing capital, declared he would "go the limit" to carry out the recommendations of the national unemployment conference.

James Couzens, millionaire mayor of Detroit, representing the public, described the system of unemployment relief which is proving a great success in that city. The conference may discuss such a statement.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, said labor would give its best efforts to mitigate unemployment through the conference, although labor's representatives are in a minority among the delegates and the organized workers will proceed very cautiously to avoid endorsing any plan injurious to the trade unions.

SIGNAL HILL GETS NEW WELL MONDAY

LONG BEACH, Sept. 27.—The second well in the new oil territory on Signal Hill, near here, came in last night with what experts say is a most satisfactory showing. The new producer is east of Cherry avenue near Willow street on top of Signal Hill, and is fully three-quarters of a mile from the Alamitos No. 1, which came in under such spectacular circumstances several weeks ago.

Oil began to flow unexpectedly last night as the drill, at a depth of 2709 feet, was passing through cement, which had been forced into the hole.

The well will remain capped and no effort made to bring it in until instructions have been received from the company's offices in San Francisco.

INCREASE OF JAPS IS GREATEST OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Japanese population of the United States increased 53.8 percent during the last decade, which is more than the combined increase of all other peoples, native or foreign born.

In 1910 the Japanese numbered 72,157, while the 1920 census placed the total at 111,010. The total population of 105,710,620 enumerated by the 1920 census is divided as follows:

Whites, 94,820,915; Negroes, 10,463,131; Indians, 244,437; Japanese, rank next; Chinese, 61,639; Filipinos, 5,603; Hindus, 2,507; Koreans, 1,224; all others numbered 154. The total population increased 14.9 percent. Whites increased 16 per cent; negroes 6.5 per cent.

PICKFORD DIVORCE FIGHT IS RENEWED

CARSON City, Nev., Sept. 27.—A record of the trial court's proceedings in the action brought by the State Attorney General to dissolve the divorce of Mary Pickford and Owen Moore was filed with the State Supreme Court here as part of an appeal against the quashing of the action by the lower court. The record contained 107 pages.

The appellant has ten days in which to file his findings of error. The supplementary briefs must be in within fifteen days and the defendants' answering brief within thirty days.

CHIEF OF POLICE IS BANDIT BY NIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Police today are investigating the strange case of the dual personality of Frank Sennick, chief of police of Riverside, a suburb, who was arrested Saturday night while holding up a Chicago saloon. Sinnick, 38 years old, and a bachelor, had been chief of police of the suburb for 13 years. His arrest disclosed that after enforcing the law during the day, he became a bandit at night. He was identified by two saloon keepers as the robber who held them up, according to the authorities.

UNEMPLOYMENT LESS IN RECENT SURVEY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The unemployed throughout the country now number fewer than 3,500,000, according to a nation-wide survey made for the unemployment conference. This total is approximately 40 per cent less than the recent estimate of the department of labor, which stated that men out of work totaled 5,750,000.

Figures collected by Secretary of Commerce Hoover's department are based on reports from mayors of all cities throughout the country with a population of 10,000 and over.

BELLE LOSES SUIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mary Casey Thorne, "the belle of Third avenue," today lost her divorce case against Joel Wolfe Thorne, multi-millionaire banker. Justice W. T. Burr in supreme court granted a divorce to Thorne and denied her suit for separation.

MOVIE ACTRESS ON STAND TELLS OF "WILD PARTY"

Says She Saw Arbuckle Apply Ice to the Body of Virginia Rappe

HEARD HER ACCUSE HIM

Witness Was Careful and Measured Weight of Her Answers on Stand

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Battles within battles threatened to develop today from the preliminary hearing of Roscoe Arbuckle.

There were indications that the hearing might reach a climax today if the state calls Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont. It was generally understood around the hall of justice that the defense planned a ruthless cross-examination of Mrs. Delmont and would bring all of its strength to bear when she takes the stand.

Arbuckle's case was called at 11:15 a. m. He had been forced to wait 15 minutes while two negroes had their troubles settled by the judge. Arbuckle came into court with his wife, Minta Durfee, carefully arranging her chair. He paid no attention to the audience.

By ruthless assaults on the character of witnesses who testified against Roscoe Arbuckle, charged with the alleged murder of Virginia Rappe, the defense is trying to secure the freedom of the film comedian. Sensational charges of blackmail, hints of "white powders" and bad hootch, of intimatecy between principal state witnesses are expected.

Three main channels in which the case for the defense would run were outlined today:

First—That Virginia Rappe died from causes for which Roscoe Arbuckle shared no responsibility.

Second—That the state's witnesses were not to be credited.

Third—That the episode involving the death of Virginia Rappe was based upon an opportunity to blackmail Arbuckle.

Possibly, it was said, the real punch of the Arbuckle defense would be retained for the trial, if one is ordered.

Starting today it was certain that the testimony which the chief attor-

MRS. DELMONT WILL GIVE ALL DETAILS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Bambina Maude Delmont, the "woman of mystery," will take the witness stand today in the preliminary hearing of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, and if she is permitted to she says she will hold the "people" accountable for insinuations hurled against her in open court yesterday.

The nature of these "insinuations" she holds as very grave. They sprung into being during the cross-examination of both Al Semnacher and Dr. Arthur Beardslee, by Defense Counsel Dominguez. Pacing up and down in a small room attached to the district attorney's office, preparatory to taking the stand this morning, Mrs. Delmont said:

"I have been steeling myself for the ordeal of trial nad pain which I face today on the witness stand. Their ordeal of trial and pain which I face grave. It only makes me more determined to tell the truth in its uttermost detail."

HUNTINGTON PARK MAN HELD FOR TRIAL

Fred Hollinger, 151 Cottage street, Huntington Park, appeared before Police Judge F. H. Lowe this morning for arraignment on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The date of his trial was set for October 4, and he gave $300 cash bail.

Hollinger was arrested late yesterday by Officer Epps on complaint of Special County Officer Hodges who said that the man was driving along San Fernando Road in a reckless manner. He was examined by Dr. Eckles, city health inspector, and later was locked in the city jail where he was held until his arraignment this morning.

COUNCIL WRESTLES WITH WATER MAIN INSTALLATION

At a special meeting of the Glendale city council last night, the matter of laying four-inch case-iron water mains throughout the city was discussed. After discussion of the needs of different sections in regard to water mains, it was decided that a definite policy regarding the installation of new mains be adopted

It was agreed that the city should put in four-inch cast-iron water mains in all parts of the city. The only one big question confronting the city after the adoption of this policy was to raise sufficient funds to pay for the material and work of laying the pipe.

Several plans were offered to raise the $500,000, the estimated need, but the most practical one was the plan of laying the pipe on streets where the residents make a request for new mains and let the property owners of that street pay for the work when it is completed. This plan also specifies that the property owners shall not be charged more than the cost of the work.

While this plan was suggested and considered the most practical, it was not adopted at the meeting last night and will, in all probability, be under further discussion at the regular meeting of the council on Thursday night.

ATWOOD DUTCHER TO HEAD FOOTBALL TEAM

At a meeting of the Glendale high school football team, Atwood Dutcher was elected captain to fill the vacancy made when Burney Chandler failed to return to school this year. Chandler was elected captain last year, but during the vacation, his family moved to Kansas and he has entered school there.

Captain Dutcher played tackle on the team last year and will, in all probability, play the same position this year. He and the other possibility for tackle are two of the heaviest men on the team, as each man weighs in at 185 pounds.

In Europe the question continues to be: What may happen next? And yet it is never used to shut off endless debate as to what has already happened.

OTHER CHARGES TO BE FILED AGAINST MRS. SOUTHARD

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Sept. 27.—The second day of the trial of Mrs. Lyda Southard was marked by a hot clash between the attorneys for the prosecution and defense.

Following the statement of E. E. Collins, prosecuting attorney of Billings, Mont., who arrived here to attend the trial, that he intends to rearrest Mrs. Southard and return her to Montana, to stand trial on a charge of poisoning her third husband, Harlan Lewis, whom she married in Denver in 1919 and who died in Billings a month later, should Mrs. Southard be acquitted here, the attorneys for the defense issued a hot statement condemning Collins.

The defense statement charged that Collins' announcement was an attempt to intimidate Mrs. Southard and was made for the purpose of prejudicing the selection of a jury.

Close upon the heels of this statement came the announcement that word had been received here from Knoxville, Tenn., that the parents of Wm. G. McHaffie. Mrs. Southard's second husband, intended to ask the prosecution of Mrs. Southard on a charge of murdering McHaffie should she be acquitted of Meyers' murder.

Mrs. Southard married McHaffie, who had come to Twin Falls from Knoxville and opened a restaurant, in 1917.

Mrs. M. C. Jolly of 326 Salem street reported that the car driven by herself had collied with another machine at the intersection of Los Feliz and San Fernando roads. According to Mrs. Jolly the driver of the other car stopped in the middle of the road without giving warning. This statement was confirmed by other occupants of the Jolly car. The name of the driver of the other car is not known.

The tables on which the refreshments were served were beautifully decorated with roses, and on a separate table was a huge birthday cake in four tiers for Father James O'Neill, the committee having learned it was his birthday.

The cake was presented by Harry Girard together with an even more substantial gift, a purse of gold, and the personal present of Mr. Girard himself in the form of a $20 book of gasoline coupons for Father O'Neill's car.

WOODS SISTERS ON ORPHEUM CIRCUIT MAKE BIG HIT

Two of Glendale's daughters, the Misses Dorothy and Kathleen Woods, are winning fame as aesthetic dancers with the Morgan Dancers, who are appearing this week at the Orpheum theater in Los Angeles.

These young ladies are touring with the Morgan Dancers for the first time over the Orpheum circuit, and in every city have captivated the audiences with their grace and charm. In San Francisco, where the troupe closed an engagement last week, the Misses Woods were the hit of the entire bill and many floral tributes were received by them after each performance.

In Los Angeles, when the troupe made its first appearance on Monday, these girls repeated their San Francisco success. When they entered their dressing room they were presented with a bouquet of huge yellow chrysanthemums. After the evening performance they received a basket filled with roses from Mr. and Mrs. John Treanor of Los Angeles.

The management of the Los Angeles Orpheum theater regrets that through an error which cannot now be rectified, the name of Miss Kathleen Wood does not appear on the official program.

JAP MOONSHINERS DOING BUSINESS

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—Isolated far out in the Pacific Ocean, between Japan proper and the Bonin Island group, raising nothing but sweet patatoes and rice, the inhabitants of Hachijojima are doing their best to make Japan's first attempt at prohibition a failure.

Mr. Doko Ota, headman of a little village on an island that is about twenty-one miles long and seven miles wide, accompanied by a delegation of his fellow villagers, was in Tokio recently to petition the government here to remove the ban on the manufacture of sake, Japan's native drink.

Because the natives of the Island of Hachijojima lived almost exclusively on sweet potatoes and sake the tax on liquor did not apply to this place for many years. Mr. S. Yamada, however, saw his chance to obtain a monopoly and a fortune and got the entire manufacture of alcoholic drinks in the island in his hands. It was then that the government in Tokio spoke. The old tax was not put back, but instead there came an executive order entirely forbidding the sale and monufacture of intoxicating liquors.

Since then, so Mr. Ota says, in his appeal to Tokio, most of the islanders have squandered their scanty incomes on drink and they are faced with economic ruin. They have pawned or mortgaged their ancestral estates to obtain imported sake, or "moonshine" shochu, which is a strong spirit brewed of sweet potatoes. Their morals have deteriorated, he says, and they are even scoffing at the ancient tradition that Hachijojima is the home of sirens, for, they claim, if such is the case, why do not the sirens come to their aid, now that they are in dire need?

MRS. MARY FOWLER DIES IN SAN JACINTO

C. H. Thompson of Milford street, this city, is sorrowing over the death of his aunt, Mrs. Mary Fowler, who died yesterday at the age of 84 at her home in San Jacinto. She had frequently visited him and had quite a circle of friends in this city.

In 1880 Mrs. Fowler was sent to California by the government to take up work among the Sobobo Indians, where she established the first industrial schools. So successful were they that others patterned after them have been started at other agencies. While engaged in this work she met Helen Hunt Jackson and assisted her in collecting materials for her famous story "Ramona," which is a composite of incidents Mrs. Fowler related, Ramona and Allesandro being fictitious characters.

In the earthquake of two years ago, Mrs. Fowler's house was jarred from its foundation and she never entirely recovered from the shock.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

MRS. PEETE HOLDS TO LAW OF COMPENSATION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—"I am not discouraged by the appelate court decision. It just means a longer stay in jail, but there is a law of compensation and the truth will prevail."

This was a statement today by Mrs. Louise L. Peete, convicted of murder, following a lengthy decision by the district court of appeals denying her a new trial.

The case will now go to the state supreme court, W. J. Ford, counsel for the accused woman, announced. Mrs. Peete was convicted of the murder of Jacob Charles Denton, mining magnate, in a trial replete with sensationalism.

SINKING SUBMARINE LAST NIGHT TAKES SEAMAN'S LIFE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. — One drowned, and one missing, believed drowned.

This is the authentic casualty list given the United Press today by Rear Admiral Herman O. Stickney, commander of the Pacific fleet train, following the mysterious sinking last night of the United States submarine R-6 at San Pedro.

The official list gives R. Dreffen, seaman, drowned; Vincent Spaulsberg, electrician, missing.

The body of Dreffen was shot out of the diving boat's conning tower by the in-rushing water, which filled and sunk the R-6.

He could not swim, and in his panic fought off would-be rescuers, according to eye witnesses. He went down in the suction which followed the last dive of the R-6, in the wierd circle of brilliant light thrown by searchlights of surrounding battleships.

If Spaulsberg succeeded in "dogging down" the watertight doors of the compartment in which he was caught when the submarine sank, without warning, he can live 48 hours in the supply of air in the compartment, Stickney said.

A report from San Pedro that ten men were unaccounted for following the disaster, was discounted by Admiral Stickney.

He expressed confidence that they would be accounted for when the confusion over the ship's roster is cleared.

One line of hose was being secured today to a connection with the ship's hull, to pump out the water. A second line was connected to carry air within and raise it to the surface.

An immediate court of inquiry will be convened to determine the cause of the disaster and fix responsibilty, according to the train commander.

Available reports assign as the cause of the sinking the opening of a torpedo tube by mistake, he said.

With two diving crews working at top speed, it will take until Wednesday morning to bring the submarine to the surface, according to Lieut.-Commander Eric Barr, engineering officer of the submarine base, who is in charge of the rescue work.

PAUL SOUTHARD HAS GREAT CONFIDENCE WIFE'S INNOCENCE

(Copyright 1921 by United Press)

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Sept. 27.—"Lyda is a sweet and fine girl and has been a wonderful wife to me. Anyone who knows her knows that these charges of murder against her must be false, and I know the evidence that will be brought out in the case will convince even those who are now against her of her innocence."

This was the statement made to the United Press today by Paul Vincent Southard, naval petty officer, and fifth husband of Mrs. Lyda Southard, who is on trial in the district court on a charge of murdering her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer.

Southard believes firmly in his wife's innocence of the charge of murder which has been brought against her in connection with the death of Meyer, and of the other charges of the state that she also brought about the deaths of her previous husbands and her brother-in-law by poisoning them.

Since he arrived in Twin Falls, he has been active in investigating the case and in doing all that he could to aid in her defense.

"Mrs. Southard had never obtained the $10,000 policy on Meyer's life," Southard declared. "Meyer had given payment for the premium, but the policy had not yet been delivered when he died.

"Does that look like Lyda was guilty of killing Meyer for his insurance—when Meyer hadn't even received his policy from the company?

"Our attorneys, Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Mills, have already filed suit against the company to collect the insurance which, when it comes right down to it, she is entitled to, as she is absolutely innocent."

"I would like to say that most of the newspapers I have seen have played very fair and have been mighty fine to Mrs. Southard ever since her return from Honolulu. When Mrs. Southard was first arrested in Honolulu I was inclined to be resentful of everything that appeared in the press and antagonistic toward newspaper men.

"But the more I have dealt with them, the more I have found out that most of them are anxious to be entirely fair and that the real newspapermen are the best friends because they want to be just in considering the case and writing about it."

Southard will remain with his wife throughout the trial. It is evident that she trusts him implicitly and is depending upon his support to aid her in maintaining her strength and vtality throughout the trial.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A eugenic law forbidding the unfit to marry would breed revolution. Prof. R. M. Binder of New York University told the second international congress of eugenics today. A better course to pursue, he said, would be to make the unfit, fit. He also disputed the assertion that men of genius usually are weaklings.

SEMNACHER IS TO START SUIT FOR DEFAMATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27. — "Where does he get that stuff?" So questions Al Semnacher, "forgetful witness of the Arbuckle trial, in answer to the "frame-up" accusation hurled at him by Frank Dominguez, attorney for Roscoe Arbuckle.

And so indignant is Semnacher that he wired his attorney in Los Angeles today to enter suit against "Dominguez et al" for defamation of character. And he also made denial of the charges before the grand jury last night.

Semnacher is more communicative off the stand than on. Today he cleared the "mystery of the missing mesh bag." During his examination yesterday he was asked many questions regarding a beautiful gold mesh bag studded with gems, and Dominguez finally demanded whether or not he had taken such a bag belonging to Miss Rappe to Los Angeles. The witness denied it,

"There is a misunderstanding," Semnacher said today. "The defense is confusing two gold mesh bags The day before I left Los Angeles—September 2—Miss Mildred Harris, film star, gave me a handsome mesh bag of gold, studded with valuable stones, to have a clasp repaired It reposed in by pocket forgotten until I returned to Los Angeles, when I discovered it, had it repaired and returned it to its owner. Miss Rappe's gold mash bag was given to me by Arbuckle the morning after the party and I returned it to Miss Rappe."

According to state officials, there is no mystery as to the whereabouts of Miss Rappe's mesh bag. It has been in the possession of Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont since the film actress' death, with their knowledge.

PURSE WITH $20,000 CASH LEFT IN STORE

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Had A. C. Thierer, a clerk in a haberdashery store, lived in Diogenes's time, the carefully preserved chestnut about "Diogenes and his lantern" would not have been handed down through the ages.

In his employer's store Thierer found $20,000 in currency and returned it to the owner, J. Brooks of Jacksonville, Fla., who had left the money on a counter after buying a hat.

Brooks missed the money ten minutes after he had bought the hat. He rushed back to the store and was so pleased to get his money back, that he rewarded Thierer with a $100 note.

CHAMBER DRIVE IS EDUCATING PUBLIC AS TO OBJECTS

A great many Glendale people have the impression that the chamber of commerce is purely a business organization formed by the business men of the town to care for any questions regarding trade that may arise and that it is only distantly concerned with the vital welfare of the town. This is a wrong impression, but one that is widespread. Many public-spirited people who are willing to do anything for the advancement of Glendale have delayed becoming members of the chamber of commerce because they have been under the impression that it is merely a business organization.

The recent drive for members conducted by the chamber and still in progress, has helped to a great extent in the correcting of this idea and every day people who have formerly been held back from joining with the members of the chamber by reason of this belief are filing their applications for membership.

In speaking of the membership drive, Assistant Secretary Sanders said:

"The chamber of commerce is not only for business men. It is an organization for every citizen of Glendale, and every citizen of Glendale should not only be a member but an active member. There are new opportunities and new duties constantly confronting a town the size of Glendale and it is the duty of the chamber of commerce to face these opportunities and take such action as may be required.

"A strong chamber of commerce, strong in membership and finances, can do much to aid in the improvement of any town or city; in fact, there are many recent improvements in Glendale, chief among them the proposed sewer for the business section of the town, that can be traced directly to the activities of the chamber. While there are vast powers for a strong chamber of commerce, to be of benefit to a town, a chamber that is weak in membership and finances is practically a wasted effort in the matter of securing any improvement for the town, so it is up to every citizen to get busy, join and boost for the organization that is doing its utmost to benefit the town, the chamber of commerce."

'DANGEROUS PARADISE' AT GLENDALE THEATRE

If it were not for the names of Lewis Allen Browne as scenarist and Edmund Goulding as author, on the main title of the Selznick picture, "The Dangerous Paradise," which is on at the Glendale theater today, the observer would immediately come to the conclusion that the story was by Booth Tarkington. The characters, the style of plot and the general atmosphere is that of Tarkington at his best, and a very good best it is.

Set amid scenes of remarkable beauty and good taste, the picture portrays the adventures of Ivis Vanastor, a sub-deb, who seeks to enter "The Dangerous Paradise" of freedom, which she fondly imagines exists for married ladies only. Luck, in the form of an inheritance on her 18th birthday, comes her way, and with a definite plan in mind she boldly sets forth.

The picture is comedy of the first stripe that entertains from beginning to end.

RAILWAY TRAINMEN AUTHORIZE STRIKE SAYS MURDOCK

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A strike of 180,000 railway trainmen of the United States has been authorized by the union leaders and by the general grievance committee of the organization if the result of the strike vote now being counted indicates that the members desire a walkout, James Murdock announced today.

Murdock denied emphatically the statement published here today that "railway labor union officials are reluctant to authorize a tie-up of the country's transportation facilities" and that "the workers' vote for a walkout does not necessarily mean that their leaders will sanction such action."

"Which do you regard as more important in human happiness, pursuit or possession?" "Pursuit. Any man would rather go fishing than own a fish market."

THE RENT PROBLEM; THE WAR HAS ENDED

In the backwoods of Tennessee many years ago, after the Civil War had closed, a solicitor for a New York publishing house called at the home of a mountaineer in an attempt to sell a book, "History of the War Between the States." The mountaineer was surprised to know that there had been a war and to learn that Lincoln had been assassinated.

Some of the landlords in thickly populated cities and in some of the rapidly growing communities of the United States are apparently as ignorant as the Tennessee mountaineer. They do not know that the World War is ended. We will give them credit, however, for hanging to the technicality that war is not officially ended and breathe the hope that when the treaty is signed they will come down to earth with their rent rates.

Labor has reduced, necessities have reduced, lumber has tumbled and rents seem to be the only necessities that remain aloft.

Considerable complaint is made locally that landlords and landladies object to children as tenants. They are within their rights when they refuse to rent to people who have children, for they are not altogether to blame. Some of their other tenants perhaps object to having neighbors who are blessed with children.

The only solution that seems to present itself here, as in other communities, is the construction of more houses, more apartments, more bungalows, and more flats. When there are more vacant homes in Glendale the rent problem will solve itself and the matter of children will, likewise, be settled.

SUPERIOR SERVICE; BUILDING GLENDALE

Yesterday the Glendale Daily Press installed the full leased wire service of the United Press and hereafter will give its readers a full report of the news from all points of the world. This, with the full report of local activities and the continuance of the telegraphic reports of the International News Service, will assure readers all the news of the day.

In addition to the news service of the Glendale Daily Press, subscribers are receiving the Los Angeles Evening Express with the Glendale Daily Press, which gives them the reports of the Associated Press, the world's greatest news-gathering organization. In addition to all this, the Los Angeles Evening Express carries daily comments by the world's greatest authorities.

There may be a greater reading value going to subscribers, but if there is we have never heard of it. The two papers, for only 65 cents per month, is something to be considered when people figure their household budgets.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There is widespread agitation in relation to censorship of moving pictures. The feeling that actuates it has found expression in Pasadena, doubtless on the part of very worthy men and women, most of whom have in mind the public good, or honestly believe this to be their sole incentive. Nevertheless the matter should not be settled hastily. The people who make moving pictures are entitled to hearing and to protection. The men who have invested millions in the industry should not be subjected to loss for no better reason than that individuals not connected with the films believe themselves more competent to tell not only what the public wants, but what the public should have. The writer does not believe in the principle that would censor pictures. It is the same principle that would censor every human activity. It is repugnant to the constitution. It is incompatible with freedom of speech and press. There are plenty of persons who gladly would see the newspapers subjected to censorship, and made to fit their own ideas; who would have a committee to pass on books, and who would hamper and ruin art in the effort to make it prim and proper, but something not art.

HENRY JAMES

* * *

If the effort to provide rigid censorship, in evidence in many places, were to be fully successful, there would be no moving pictures. There never was a picture made, nor a book written, that in some part would not offend either an idealist, or a plain, pernicious crank. With a censor or board of censorship at every place where there is a moving picture house, there never has been a picture made, nor is it within human power to make a picture, that would pass unscathed. One would be condemned because it portrayed a dance. The fatal snag for another would be a dress, fully conforming to social usage, and yet not such as worn by the censor's maiden aunt. A third might get as far as Utah and there succumb to the circumstance of containing a street scene in which some of the incidental characters were smoking. One form of bigotry would object to any visible element of religion, and another school of bigots to the absence of religious suggestion.

* * *

The claim is set up that pictures should be "educational" whatever that means. They are educational. Everything that describes the detail of life is educational. A similar outcry is made in behalf of daily journalism habitually. Some of it is made by anonymous persons lacking politeness. They demand that the papers print nothing but the good which is also the true and the beautiful. That is, instead of the portrayal of human circumstance as it is, they want it only as they deem it ought to be. Their judgment as to what it ought to be is defective. Conceding cheerfully that they could run a paper better than ever has been done, let them found a paper and try out their theories.

* * *

To judge the whole dramatis personae by the occasional Arbuckle is manifestly and grossly unfair. Arbuckle's career has hurt the profession, and it has killed him professionally. He is eliminated, and will take with him others of his kind. The real leaders in the film world are for the most part men and women of character and standing. This is true of the most widely known stars. As to the great mass who take minor parts, or who do the mechanical work, which employs a vast army, they compare well with wage earners of any other class, and never are heard of outside their several immediate circles.

* * *

Vulgar displays whether on stage or screen, or the printed page, are against the law. When the law is violated the penalty is named. All come within the legitimate scope of the police. Enforcement of the law is necessary, rather than the making of a thousand conflicting and perplexing and meddlesome new regulations.

AT THE LISTENING POST

There is an election in life perhaps more important to you than the election of a president.
That is important, of course.
Much may depend upon it.
National policies, for instance.

* * *

National policies may make or mar.
Just as individual policies may make or mar.
They may make for happiness or they may make for unhappiness.
They may make for construction or for destruction.

* * *

So the election of any official having to do with the government is important.
To a certain degree.
Although governments like this will withstand a lot of bad government.
If it were not so, few of them would survive.

* * *

Just as the human system will withstand a lot of bad treatment.
And still survive.
Not at its best perhaps.
But it survives nevertheless.

* * *

Being human, we are fallible.
And we do a lot of things we might better not do.
And leave undone a lot of things we ought to do.
But notwithstanding our errors of commission and omission, nature is reasonably tolerant.

* * *

She corrects our errors as best she can.
Does a little extra work.
Patches up the bad places.
Stays awake nights to make repairs.
And never gives up her struggle for our good until the last breath of us is gone.

* * *

But to get back to the matter of election:
There is an individual election in life.
Taking place nearly every day.
The election of our personal activities.
Habits.
Deeds.

* * *

We cannot always elect our impulses.
Impulses are instinctive things.
Springing into the consciousness from no one can say where.
Thoughts spring into the mind from nowhere in particular sometimes.
Thoughts that may shock and make us wonder at ourselves.

* * *

So impulses and thoughts cannot always be elected.
But we can elect their control.
That is the point.
We cannot always elect the result of our activities.
Chance and circumstance play always some part.
But we can elect to be active.

We cannot elect that the day shall be fine and sunny.
But we can elect to be ourselves fine and sunny in spirit.
There are many things beyond our control.
But we are, ourselves, much within the control of ourselves.

* * *

We can elect activity or idleness.
Cheerfulness or ill nature.
Helpfulness or selfishness.
Friendliness or meanness.
Frankness or deceit.

* * *

Thus the things that make men and women are things within our own election.
To a considerable degree.
We can elect to walk with heads erect and eyes forward and purposes sure.
Or we can elect to walk with heads downcast and spirits low.

* * *

We cannot elect to be generals in the battle of life.
But we can elect to serve in the place we may fill with the same sense of duty and responsibility.
We can elect motive and purpose.

* * *

And when motive and purpose are wholesome and high, we need not so much consider deeds.
Because motive and purpose are the important things.
We cannot elect to be very rich.
But we can elect thrift.
We cannot elect to be first among men.
But we can elect the character that would grace the place of the first.

* * *

So the daily election is progressing.
The election of spirit, motive, purpose, activity, usefulness, friendliness, kindness, service, as we may choose.
And it is an election that makes or mars us.

* * *

We speak much of national policies.
There are agents of personal government and control within us.

* * *

And we have the opportunity to choose them.
The ballot box of us is open every day.
And many times.
For in every deed or action involving us, we have an election.
For weal or woe.
For right or wrong.
For strength or weakness.

* * *

And the election is by a single ballot:
Yours.
And mine.

ERZBERGER

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The crime of Erzberger was that he was intelligent and honest.

These are the two unpardonable sins in the eyes of the two varieties of blatherskites who afflict the human race.

These two varieties are the extreme radicals and the extreme reactionaries.

They cannot endure intelligence, because they have seized an idea, as a dog grabs a bone, and run away with it in a blind frenzy.

Often this idea is a good one, in fact, usually it is. But a good idea pursued with fanaticism is deadlier than a bad idea entertained with tolerance.

Intelligence is critical. It does not permit its possessor to seek to gain his point by assassinating political enemies, by roasting heretics, or by torturing and murdering women and children.

Always it elects the mercies of practicality to the cruelties of opinionated egotism.

Erzberger was intelligent because, though a German, he realized the utter madness of Pan-German ambition, which was to conquer the world a la Caesar and to regulate it a la God.

For this reason the young buckoes who still sing hoch der Kaiser and dream unclean dreams of monarchy restored, hated him as the devil hates holy water.

He was intelligent, furthermore, in this: that he saw no peace in Europe, and no return to a wholesome and normal evolution of society, except in an eventual conciliation and co-operation between vanquished Germany and its victors.

No social growth can function on hate.

Grudges in the blood of the body politic by and by break out in the pustules of revolution and war.

The narrow minded who in Germany preach eternal hate of France, in France preach undying hate of Germany, in America are doing their best to create hate toward Great Britain and Japan, are all in the same boat.

They may not be assassins themselves, but their gospel breeds assassins.

The worst enemies of every country are those of their own number, who, under pretext of loud patriotism, preach the dark and cowardly propaganda of hate and suspicion toward other peoples.

Erzberger was above this. He was a martyr to the cause of the coming World State. Perhaps his death was needed for the cause of Humanity, as the blood of the martyrs was the seeed of the Church.

No man can do better service for the Truth than to die for it.

And Erzberger was honest.

Having signed the treaty, Germany ought to keep it, he declared.

To fulfil as good sports their every promise, he thought, would gain more for Germany in the end than to try to wriggle out of their agreement by sharp dealing.

So he had to go.

Nobody is hated more hotly by those whose mainspring is hate than they who denounce hate.

All class maniacs turn and rend one who would preach to them the folly of class.

Always narrowness hates liberality with full intensity.

Jesus, whose only aim was to make a racial religion universal, was crucified by religion's leaders.

Lincoln, who was the very genius of reconciliation, was killed by an irreconcilable.

Erzberger, who wanted to make of Germany a friend to the world, was murdered by them whose love for Germany took the form of an ambition to retain for Germany the title of the world's enemy.

The road to world unity is lined with crosses.

(Copyrighted by Dr. Frank Crane)

We wouldn't have so many idle dreamers in the world if some of the powers hadn't had so many idle dreams.

In 1919 the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports there were 3,374 strikes in the United States. News item. And 9654 home runs.

WISDOM ABOVE PEACE TYPE ESSENNIAL AT PEACE PARLEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Spt. 27.—More character, more sense and a great deal more imagination than was displayed at Versailles should enter into the November disarmament conference in Washington if it is to be a success, in the opinion of Chester Rowell, for many years a leading California editor and now a member of the State Railroad Commission.

Rowell recently returned from a trip to the Orient. He found in Japan much the same forces working that were uppermost in Germany before 1914, but declared that the good sense of both the United States and Japan should be able to avert a foreseen calamity.

Unity of Police Weak

"Japan is superficially a very attractive country," Rowell declares. "Nature made it beautiful and everything man has done to it has made it more so. The only ugly things in Japan are European houses and European clothes. Every native thing even the humblest, like a woodpile or a straw stack, shows the touch of conscious art. The holidays commemorate usually not the anniversary of events, but the blossoming of flowers or the pilgrimages to the famous beauty spots. It is respectable to rave over beauty in Japan and manly to write spring poetry. The same artistic sense prevails in the manners and life of the Japanese. They are a graceful, attractive people who have adorned a beautiful country. It is no wonder impressionable travelers bring back a poetized conception of Japan.

"Californians are acutely conscious that there is another side and no one who observes Japanese conditions can avoid being struck by the analogy between the present organization and situation of Japan and that of pre-war Germany. Just as there were plenty of Germans with sound views before 1914, so are there plenty of anti-militarists and liberals in Japan now. But Germany was so organized that only the forces which were driving the world toward war could make themselves effective in government. There is the same artificial unity of policy by Japan and the same obstruction in the very mechanism of government, to control by the non-militarists even if they were in the majority. The same forces are working toward the same logical end.

"But the safety is that the world, including Japan, has had Germany's warning. Forewarned is forearmed, or better still, forestalled. Long before things come to an impasse the good sense of both countries should be able to avert a foreseen calamity. If the international experts who assemble in Washington in November to play on the chess board of diplomacy will but show a little more character, a little more sense and a great deal more imagination than their predecessors at Versailles, they may demonstrate that the human race is at least morally fit to be trusted with the forces which its intelligence has discovered."

China Over-Populated

The tremendous man-power of China principally impressed Rowell.

"The only thing that there is enough of in China is men," he said. "Everything else has to be economized, but human muscle is used with deliberate extravagance. All work is done in the hardest and most inefficient way, just to make more jobs. What machines and animals do in America, men do in China. The coolies is almost the only beast of burden. But though ignorant and superstitious, the coolie is not stupid. And there are four hundred million of them."

Rowell, speaking on "What I Saw in China and Japan" recently, gave some desultory observations on his recent visit to the Orient. A hasty trip, he said, gives a mere moving picture glimpse, but the camera can record only hat appeals to the sense of sight. In a city like Canton, where two million people are crowded in a space the size of the city of Fresno, without a sewer and with the only garbage collections carried on by women with large baskets, naturally there are other unphotographic sights.

"China," said Rowell, "is a human ocean, for no matter how much you pump out of the ocean, the level is unchanged. Similarly, no reasonable emigration from China could decrease its population. The law of subtraction fails when crossed by the law of multiplication. The birth rate in China consists of all the child-bearing power of all its women during all their child-bearing years. Most of the children die in infancy and most of the rest die young. These swarming millions are the remainder. Export any conceivable number, even hundreds of millions, and their places would be taken immediately.

"The only possible policy for California, as the dike-keepers of the racial frontier, is no 'leakage.'"

BRITISH CABINET TO BACK GEORGE

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Barring possible dissension by certain cabinet ministers, a peace conference between Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries and the British cabinet committee will be held in London next week. The notes forwarded from Lloyd George inviting de Valera to send a deputation was to be sent tomorrow and made public Thursday.

The view of nearly all the various British ministers who have been considering the rough draft of Lloyd George's proposed reply, had been received today. There was no reason, it was said, to anticipate that any serious opposition to the outline the premier had taken had arisen.

In that case his reply would indicate clearly to de Valera that it was the last word of the British government on the subject of the proposed conference. It would definitely refuse to recognize Irish independence, while leaving de Valera and his colleagues free to do as they choose.

INSPECT GAME CLUB SITE IN VENTURA

J. G. Huntley and party returned last night from a 3-day trip to inspect the lease of the new game club in which he and others are interested in connection with the systm of triple dams which the Sespe Light and Power Company is building in a mountain canyon about 20 miles above Fillmore.

Most of the trip was made on horseback, that being the only way to get into the very rugged, picturesque country to be opened up by the power company. Mr. Huntley is very enthusiastic over the location which he says abounds in game and fish.

The company is now building its lower reservoirs at the mouth of the canyon but as the upper dams which will form reservoirs are built roads will precede them into the mountains.

The lake, which the club will control and stock, is to be three miles long and a half mile wide, and is about 20 miles from the mouth of the canyon. Holdings of the power company represent about 12,000 acres, and the club is subscribing for $50,000 of its stock.

The club will be limited to one hundred members and organization with a full roster will be completed tonight at the Union League Club in Los Angeles. The Glendale members besides Mr. Huntley are Roy L. Kent, Dr. T. C. Young, A. L. Baird, Oliver Clark, W. W. Worley, John A. Logan, Daniel Campbell, and Dr. Leslie Eames.

MINE WORKERS WILL ATTACK FEDERATION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—An attack against the American Federation of Labor will develop in the United Mine Workers' convention here, delegates predicted today.

The fight will center around refusal of President Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the A. F. of L. to aid the coal miners financially in litigations.

The convention unanimously voted to close debate on the Lewis-Howat controversy and roll call vote started immediately afterwards.

ROOSEVELT NIPPED NEW MANSION BUD

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. — Evidence that Theodore Roosevelt ended agitation for a new executive mansion near the site of the Soldiers' Home in Washington, when he was President, is revealed in a typewritten manuscript presented today to the Roosevelt Memorial Association as a contribution to the archives of the association as a birthday tribute to the memory of the former President.

The manuscript, presented by Charles Moore, chairman of the National Commission of Fine Arts, and chief of the division of manuscripts of the Congressional Library of Washington, was written at the time that the agitation for a new White House was taking place and sent to President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay for criticism. Only three pages of the article written by Mr. Moore were returned, but on one of which was this sentence, in the handwriting of the former President:

"Under no circumstances should the President live elsewhere than in the historic White House."

COL. JUNKIN ONE OF 'WET' SPONSORS

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. — Lieut.-Col. Francis T. A. Junkin of Chicago, was revealed today as one of the sponsors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Inc.

His name appears in a list of prominent members mailed out by the association in its campaign for support in a war against the Eighteenth Amendment. Others on the list are R. L. Agassiz, Irvin S. Cobb, Mrs. Nadine Converse, Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, Seth Low, Rear-Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, Kermit Roosevelt, Augustus Thomas and Henry Kitchell Webster.

The association's objectives, to be taken in the order of their naming, are:

To get the Volstead Act repealed.

To permit every State (under the concurrent clause) to pass its own enforcement act.

To then remove the prohibition amendment from the Constitution.

Lieut.-Col. Junkin was appointed to the Contract Adjustment Board in Washington in the fall of 1919. A little later a carload of goods, including two large automobiles, was shipped from the Junkin home in Michigan avenue to Washington. Hidden in the tonneau of one of the automobiles they found several boxes marked, "Victrola records." They opened the boxes and discovered ten gallons of choice liquor.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is now conducting a membership campaign. Dues are only $1 a year, but members who wish to give more are encouraged, especially since contributions are not subject to the Federal tax on dues.

CHICAGO POLICE TO LOSE BRASS BUTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Federal and local authorities united today to rip the brass buttons and police star from John Barleycorn

Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney, turned over to Police Chief Charles Fitzmorris a mass of evidence against policemen charged with dealing in illicit liquor.

Clyne swung into action following the statement of Fitzmorris that "half of Chicago's police force of 5,000 men are bootleggers."

GOVERNMENT MUST UNDERWRITE WAGES

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Sept. 27.—"The United States government must underwrite all agreements between oil operators and workers, or the great Kern County oil fields will continue idle," said Walter Yarrow, Union executive and director of the present strike.

"We have made many concessions," Yarrow said, "but in this we will not yield. The government does not desire, and never has attempted, to interfere with private ownership in oil operation. The government's signature to a wage contract and working conditions agreement simply means that the government will see fair play, and upon this point we insist."

BLOOD EXPERTS DECLARE TESTS NOT RELIABLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Art, science and law for a while assume the roles of the Three Fates.

In the court of law, in a case involving the question of a child's legitimacy, the trio appear to prove that, contrary to sworn statements of a mother, her child was born in wedlock and not outside that prescribed condition, as she has claimed.

Mrs. Mamie Sorine del Seco, of San Francisco, must have a kink in her mind, as manifest as the crest of a permanent wave.

She wanted to prove her own baby illegitimate. Strange woman! Yet she may have had reasons that seemed to her to justify her actions.

Mrs. del Secco was formerly Mrs. Julius B. Sorine. From Sorine she obtained a divorce. Then she desired to make it known that the child born during their life together was not the offspring of her husband. She had been unfaithful, she told the court.

Art was called in to help establish the boy's right to a name. Art, in the person of Haig Patigan, sculptor and president of the Bohemian club of San Francisco, announced that from a comparison of features the child bore a striking resemblance to Scrine.

Blood tests made by Dr. Albert Abrams, according to the physician, left no doubt of Sorine's right to call the child his, his right sealed by science.

The law has ruled in favor of the legitimacy of young Eugene Sorine, aged nine.

Baby Sacrificed to Whim

Mrs. del Secco has custody of Eugene, but her former husband is permitted to visit the boy. In order to thwart the father in his desire to see Eugene, Mrs. del Secco was willing to sacrifice her child's name.

Recently these things were discussed in the famous case of Stillman vs. Stillman. James A. Stillman, who does not deny he is the father of a child whose father is Florence Leeds, chatelaine of various of the banker's "love nests," refused to acknowledge Guy Stillman as his own.

In another famous case of a disputed baby, "Teddy" Slingsby, the youngster's ear finally proved to be his best friend.

Heir to an old English fortune, the child, born in San Francisco, was not welcome to some of the younger Slingsby sons, who hoped the eldest would die without issue and leave them all the money. One of them was believed to be behind the agitation ostensibly begun by a trained nurse, who claimed little "Teddy" was a "changeling."

"Teddy" was substituted for the real heir, who died at birth, so went the tale, just like a yellow-back novel.

So strong seemed the proof that the California court declared "Teddy" to be a "changeling." Then the case was taken to England, where Judge Deane declared him legitimate. The verdict was reached on account of the child's jaw and ear, which last feature had a marked family peculiarity.

Identification Impossible

But—

"To define absolutely legitimacy or illegitimacy of a child is impossible at present.

"We can find no definite proof of parenthood so far."

The statements came from Dr. Thomas W. Edgar, expert in blood tests and specialist on gland study.

"Blood tests are unsatisfactory. One cannot say definite things after a test is made, only what one feels about a certain case at hand.

"The essence of the blood test is the theory of anaphylaxis. This test is not satisfactory, but I will show you how it can be made.

"Blood is withdrawn from the child and from the contesting man and woman in the case. If I were doing it I should give a Wasserman test, too, for blood diseases on all three. If the father and the child have a positive reaction it would strongly indicate that the man was the child's parent, since the baby would be too young to gain an infection of this sort.

"If all the three blood samples give a negative, then I would churn around that of the child individually. And I would separate the corpuscles from the serum.

"Then I would take a hypodermic syringe and inject the child's serum into the bodies of father and mother, carefully noting the reaction. This reaction and this process is what we call anaphylaxis.

"Symptoms of reaction, which would indicate that the blood is the same, would be a general feeling of 'malaise,' a fatigue, a high temperature and swelling of the glands.

"If two adults are the real parents they both will reveal these symptoms, showing that from these two beings the third creature — the child—has come into the world.

Test Not Dependable

"Family peculiarities can often be traced in the shape of the blood corpuscles, in the shape of the ears, as in the case of the Slingsby baby, the look in the eye, the peculiarity of the hair line, the shape of the hand or the instep.

"Still, a child might resemble one man in these respects—a husband who denied the child—and yet be the offspring of another.

Mixed Type Not Likely

"When a man and a woman marry each has, of course, glandular characteristics, according to type. Their offspring must inherit one or the other set of characteristics. They are not usually the mixed types.

"One sort predominates. If one parent is a thyroid type the offspring is apt to be too; because that is the strongest of the three glandular types and predominates over the others.

Physical characteristics are inherited and yet environment changes faces and features far more than inheritance ever did.

"In cases such as this one in San Francisco, where they say the legitimacy has been proved from every possible angle, what they really mean is that all the proof has been taken into consideration and that it looks as if the child were legitimate—and it is probably so in most of these cases where it seems so, too."

Court Favors Test

"It's a wise child that knows its own father," said William Shakespeare. But medical science would seem to have made such wisdom possible. Tests of the blood of Paul Vittori in San Francisco recently, determined successfully, according to the judgment of the court, that Vittori was the father of Virginia, three-months-old daughter of Vittori's divorced wife. Vittori had denied parentage in order, it was claimed by his wife, to avoid paying alimony.

Stanley F. Nolan, a young San Francisco attorney, representing Mrs. Vittori, had made a study of blood tests from a legal standpoint and succeeded in bringing into the court the testimony of Dr. Albert Abrams, noted scientist and physician, of that city. Dr. Abrams' testimony sought to prove by blood vibration the parentage of the child, and the court rendered a favorable decision to the wife, based upon the blood test.

WORKERS REFUSE CUT; CAUSE OF IDLENESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. — The workers were blamed for wide-spread idleness in the United States at the national unemployment conference, in connection with the system of triple day.

B. F. Phelps, director of labor statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, told the committee on unemployment statistics, that refusal of workers to accept reduced wages was one of the causes of the present emergency.

RENTS IN EAST HIGH AS DURING WAR DAYS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27.—Except in a few isolated instances rents have not come down in Connecticut and there is little immediate prospect of their being reduced, according to a canvass of the principal cities of the state recently.

A few housing corporations have announced reductions of 10 to 15 per cent in rentals, but the instances constitute too small a percentage of the entire rentals to be of consequence. It is admitted everywhere that shortage of housing needs will have to be relieved before there is a chance of rents being lowered, and there is no immediate evidence of a renewal of building of homes on a large scale.

MOVIE ACTRESS TELLS OF PARTY

ney for the defense, Frank Dominguez would try to elicit would be spiced with tales of life around Los Angeles studios, of "wild" parties, leading, perhaps, to disclosures of things that have occurred on the "white ways" of other cities throughout the country.

The "blackmail" charges, which Dominguez sprang as a surprise at the close of yesterday's session, were certain to be revived. A new name was introduced by Arbuckle's attorney, that of Earl Lynn, whom he accused of being implicated in a plot to extort money from "Fatty," together with Semnacher and Mrs. Delmont.

At the present rate of progress it will take at least two more days, probably more, to complete the testimony at the preliminary hearing.

Zey Pyrvon, show girl, today told her version of Roscoe Arbuckle's Labor Day party, alleged to have preceded the death of Virginia Rappe.

"I saw Miss Rappe go into the bathroom of Arbuckle's apartments," she said. "Arbuckle followed her, and Arbuckle came out about an hour later."

Miss Pyvron declared she saw Arbuckle torture Miss Rappe with a piece of ice, exclaiming "that will make her come to."

She charged that Arbuckle threatened to throw Miss Rappe out because "she is too noisy."

She described Miss Rappe as lying on the bed in Arbuckle's room crying 'I'm dying, I'm dying; he hurt me," after the alleged assault.

"Mrs. Delmont had kicked on the door and cried, 'Open the door; I want to speak to Virginia.' Mrs. Delmont and I ran into the room. We saw Miss Rappe lying on one of the twin beds. Miss Rappe was dressed and her hair was hanging. She was moaning, 'I am dying.'"

Previous testimony has been that Miss Rappe was nude.

Miss Pyvron was closely cross-examined. She denied she had refused to sign a statement regarding the case after telling the story to the district attorney.

She also denied having discussed the case with Alice Blake after Arbuckle's arrest.

"I didn't take a drink," she said, when asked if she had been drinking at the party.

She declared Alice Blake and Lowell Sherman, actor, had entered one of the rooms of the suite alone just before Miss Rappe "sort of skipped" toward the door of the bathroom.

"Arbuckle followed Miss Rappe right in and I got up and went into the room where Miss Blake and Mr. Sherman were." She had not heard Arbuckle lock the door.

"A WISE FOOL" TODAY AT PALACE GRAND

Intensely dramatic and thrilling is "A Wise Fool," a Paramount picturization of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Money Master," which is showing today and tomorrow at the Palace Grand theater.

The central character is Jean Jacques Barbille, a FrenchCanadian philosopher, who all but destrops his career because of his egotism. The incidents are sensational and some of them extremely touching. Humor is provided by Sebastian Dolores, the father of Carmen, and the temperamental villagers. It is a picture of drama, pathos, rumor and humanity. It has the compactness of a play with a vivid emphasis which only the screen can give. It is a reflection of the life of Quebec, and a still more entrancing and intimate view of its people. The support is excellent.

Mack Sennett's rollicking comedy, "Dabbling in Art," and the latest news by Kinograms, complete the bill.

Coleridge composed from 200 to 300 lines of one of his most famous poems during a dream.

The inhabitants of St. Kilda, the loneliest spot in the British Isles, speak only Gaelic.

The size of gloves is reckoned by the number of inches around the knuckles of the closed hand.

The most popular of flowers, the rose, is to be found in almost every country north of the Equator.

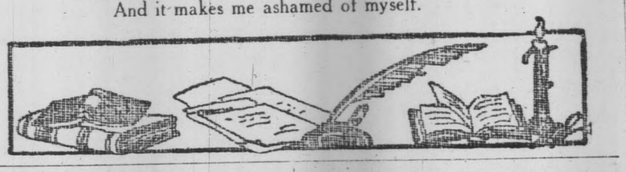
THE VOICE

Sometimes when I grumble at trivial things,
When the spirit of me is awry,
And then see some fellow who struggles and sings,
And who's not half as lucky as I,
A wee voice within wakes me up with a start:
"Discontent, you're a wry little elf,
And this man who lets you keep gnawing his heart,
He should be ashamed of himself!"

Sometimes when the world seems to be going wrong,
When it's gray and the sun doesn't shine,
I see some poor soul who is smiling along
With a load ten times bigger than mine,
That same voice within me rebukes me and says:
"Oh, Man, you're an ungrateful elf!
See the load that man bears and the brave part plays!
You should be ashamed of yourself."

Sometimes a mere fret seems a trouble so real
It clouds all the sun in my skies,
And the shadow may darken the way of my weal,
Since my poor little soul is not wise.
Then again that small voice from down somewhere inside
Says: "Shame, Little Soul! To be sad
At any sham sorrow, when had you but tried
You had helped some real sorrow be glad!"

Yes, there are brave souls that are struggling along
With sorrows I never have known,
Who have battide with trial and sorrow and wrong,
And made the good fight much alone.
And when I would scold at some trivial thing
The Voice says: "Oh, poor little elf!
Ungrateful and mean! Is there no song to sing?"
And it makes me ashamed of myself.



PURCHASED LUMBER WITH BAD CHECK

The work of a smooth fictitious check writer has been uncovered in Glendale. The Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Co. made a report to the police department that recently a man representing himself to be a prominent business man of Los Angeles, purchased some lumber and in payment gave the lumber company a check for $135. The amount of the lumber bill was $67.95, and the alleged swindler was given a check on the company for $67.05, or the difference between the amount of the bill and the check.

Police officers have been detailed to investigate the case and are seeking to uncover some clue that might lead to the identity of the man whose check is reported as worthless.

SCHOOL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN OCTOBER 3

L. T. Rowley, attendance officer of Glendale schools, states that notices were posted yesterday morning in the school districts throughout the county calling attention to the taking of the school census by teachers from October 3 to 8.

This calls for the recording of all children between the ages of 3 and 18. Parents are supposed to go to the school houses and report. One object of the census is to ascertain the number of part time pupils. The figures, when compiled, will be of value to school officials.

PLENTIFUL SUPPLY KEEPS RENTS DOWN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 27.—Commuters here are still struggling against the iron hand of hard hearted landlords, following failure of the legislature to pass an anti-rent profiteering measure fostered by St. Louis members.

There have been no sudden increases in rents generally during the past few months due to a campaign for lower rents conducted through one of the leading afternoon newspapers here. Hundreds of letters from renters were printed by the newspaper as propaganda in favor of the rent bill, which met defeat in the general assembly following a stormy debate.

From available reports it is learned that there is no scarcity of apartments. This, it is believed, has a tendency to keep rents down.

WALSH DECLARES IRISH WILL NEVER GIVE IN

HOBOKEN, N. J., Sept. 27.—Ireland will never give in to England unless she is granted full independence, declared Frank P. Walsh, Sinn Fein leader in America, on his arrival here today aboard the liner George Washington. Walsh has been in Ireland for several weeks attending the secret conferences of Sinn Fein on the peace negotiations.

"Lloyd George is a scheming trickster," Walsh said, "and also the world's greatest politician, but he is playing the game of death when he tries English politics in Ireland."

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.
